Composite American Adonis Made Up by Women Artists

GUESS WHO? Can you figure out to whom these "Ten Outstanding Masculine Features in America," selected by the National Association of Women Artists, belong to. If not, the answers are below.

NEW YORK, March 14—(AP)—Who would provide the "outstanding masculine features" for a composite American Adonis?
The National Association of Women Artists today announced that as far as they are concerned, the masculine features they like best belong to:
John L. Lewis, United Mine

Damage to Highways Is Blamed on Trucks

COLUMBUS, Mar. 14—(AP)—State Highway Director T. J. Kauer last night urged the Ohio legislature to adopt a ton-mile tax on trucks to force them to pay their fair share of the cost of the Ohio highway system.
Kauer appeared before the commerce and transportation committee of the House. He said Ohio needs $50,000,000 or more in the next two years in additional highway funds. The ton-mile tax, he estimated, would bring in $23,000,000 a year—$46,000,000 for the biennium.
A ton-mile tax would be levied on a schedule ranging from one mill (one tenth of a cent) per mile for 5,000 pound loads to 35 mills per mile for 70,000 pound loads.
Kauer told the committee he believes "passenger cars and light trucks are subsidizing the heavy trucks" in Ohio.

Meanderings

We've finally heard of a topper for the most flagrant telephone violator we have ever known. By violator we mean "time consuming." This person loves to talk on the phone and spends many hours each week talking and listening to it. Recently she "tied into" a person who kept her on the phone for two hours and 25 minutes. Do you know of anyone who is that long-winded?
Two small boys, shivering from the snow, epitomized the future of the United States as they stood Tuesday looking at a picture of wounded marines on display in a Washington C. H. show window. The picture was taken on a dock in San Francisco of marines just back from Korea.
One tousel-headed youth noted: "A lot of them have crutches, don't they."
The other tike, a little smaller than his companion, remarked: "There's two without legs."
They paused longer than you would think they would, both quietly eying the picture and thinking about what they saw. There were snow flakes on their bare heads. Both had sweaters on, no coats.
I tried to piece together what their quiet reaction to the picture meant. I couldn't help but wonder "What does the future hold for these boys?"
They moved on pulling their arms close to their bodies as a wind swirled snowflakes around them.

Henry Kaiser, auto maker, "magnificent bald pate."
Leopold Stokowski, conductor, "emotional hands."

Removal Authority Given to Governor

Ohio Subversive Probe Recommended

COLUMBUS, Mar. 14—(AP)—The House judiciary committee today recommended passage of a bill allowing the governor to bring removal action against sheriffs, prosecutors, and mayors in common pleas courts.
The vote was 14 to 1, with Rep. Newton B. Chapman (R-Geauga) dissenting.
Rep. Frank M. Gorman (D-Cuyahoga) asked: "Does this put the governor on the hot seat?"
"No," replied Rep. Lytle G. Zuber (R-Franklin), "this gives him the power he asked."
Gov. Frank J. Lausche previously has asked the legislature to give him power to remove sheriffs who fail to enforce gambling laws. He now has power to remove mayors, but not sheriffs and prosecutors.
The original bill by Rep. John F. O'Brien (D-Cuyahoga) pertained only to sheriffs. A subcommittee added mayors and prosecutors at Zuber's request.

Subversive Probe

The Senate finance committee recommended passage of a bill appropriating $20,000 to the joint Senate-House committee investigating subversive activities in Ohio.
The House approved 125-0 a bill to bring more than 16,000 volunteer firemen and their dependents under the protection of the workmen's compensation act. The bill now goes to the House.
Also approved 119-5 in the House was a bill to allow farmers to move large equipment on the highways without written permission. They would be governed, however, by rules prescribed by the highway director. That measure also goes to the Senate.
The Senate approved two bills by Sen. D. A. Liggett (R-Logan). The first permits county commissioners to make Memorial Day appropriations to World War II veterans' groups. The second allows county soldiers' relief commissions to aid dependents of U. S. fighting men in Korea.
Three representatives laid before the House a resolution asking state employees to stop attempting to influence legislators.

Allies Re-capture Seoul Ruins

Earthquake or A-bomb Rocks Europe

LONDON, March 14—(AP)—A violent earth tremor, possibly originating somewhere east of the iron curtain, startled a large section of western Europe today.

A scientist in West Germany said the possibility that the tremor was caused by a tremendous explosion such as an atomic blast had not been out entirely. An East German scientist said it was definitely an earthquake, not caused by an explosion.

The shock was felt as far west as France and Belgium. Most guesses were that the center was around Thuringia, in Soviet East Germany.

In New York the Rev. Joseph Lynch, director of the Fordham University Observatory, said the estimated location of the center definitely indicated an earthquake of the "resettlement" pattern common to certain areas.

The shock was felt as heavy seas pounded the European continent, accompanied by fierce gales which tied up shipping and inflicted wide-spread damage. There was no report from western Europe of any extensive damage from the earth shock.

Prof. Friedrich Becker, director of the Bonn, Germany, observatory, said the atomic explanation had not been entirely eliminated, but the western scientists trying to run down the origin and cause of the shock were handicapped for lack of definite information from behind the iron curtain. Given sufficient information in such occurrences, scientists would be able to pinpoint the source. The West German officials have ordered an exhaustive investigation, observatory officials said.

Earth tremors, however, are fairly frequent in the area of the West German volcanic range, the Eifel Mountains.

By telephone, Prof. Friedrich Gerecke of the Soviet-controlled earthquake research institute at Jena in East Germany said the quake was one of the strongest ever registered there. But he ruled out the possibility of an explosion. He did not give any reasons for this view.

Reds All Gone From Capital; Trick Possible

Enemy Assembling In Hills—Strategy Is Question Mark

By OLEN CLEMENTS

TOKYO, March 14—(AP)—Five south Korean patrols entered Seoul tonight and raised the Republic flag over the old capitol building.

The eighth army said they met no opposition. "They will stay there if they can," an eighth army spokesman said.

Communist forces for the past three days have been reported mysteriously withdrawing all a-long 70 miles of the Korean front. In the rugged central sector, 36 tanks spearheaded a U. S. first cavalry division thrust of four miles to a point northwest of Hongchon. Hongchon, 55 air miles east of Seoul, was a Communist stronghold until recently.

The bold crossing of the Hongchon River, just west of the town, carried the motorized cavalry to within 18 miles of the 38th parallel and cut the road linking Hongchon with Chunchon. Red supply and assembly center 15 miles to the northwest.

Other Allied elements were standing on the outskirts of Hongchon. Some may have entered the city.

The Communists are expected to make a stand in the hills somewhere north of Hongchon.

It's Fourth Capture

If the Allies stay in Seoul, this will be the fourth time the old south Korean capital has changed hands since the Korean Reds stormed across the border last June.

The eighth army said patrols of the ROK first division raised the flag Wednesday afternoon. However, a dispatch from A. P. Correspondent Jim Becker said the west gate was not reached until 7 P. M. (5 A. M., EST). The capitol building is in the northern section of the city.

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's eighth army headquarters said there would be a lapse of several hours before it would be possible to release more information on the Seoul situation.
U. S. 25th division troops east of the city had crossed the Han one week ago and driven 10 miles northward against steadily weakening Communist opposition. These forces already were north-east of the city.

Elsewhere the Reds Wednesday fought rear-guard delaying actions on the east-central front but continued their mysterious withdrawal in other sectors.

Reds on the Run

The Reds had fled so fast United Nations troops at latest reports had lost almost all contact with them. A security blackout cloaked the exact location of U. forces.

But UN patrols in central Korea ranged Wednesday throughout the hills around strategic Hongchon. They even may have entered the road hub.

Field reports Thursday placed Allied units within four miles of Hongchon. There has been almost no contact with the enemy reported since.

The Reds have quit the front lines so fast even swift tanks could not catch them. There were unconfirmed reports also that the Communists were pulling out of Seoul on the western front.

Forty thousand Reds were reported in Hongchon last week. The city is a one-time Red supply base on the winding east-west Hongchon River 22 miles south of parallel 38.

United Nations commanders expect the Reds to brace at the river line. They may plan to start an offensive of their own from there. Allied air observers say the Reds may have 120,000 or more men north and west of Hongchon.

Workman Is Killed In Freak Accident

CINCINNATI, March 14—(AP)—Chester A. Moeller, 61, a foreman at the Philip Carey Manufacturing Company, was killed today in an unusual accident, Coroner Herbert P. Lyle reported.

He was crushed under a lift truck which fell two floors down an elevator shaft.

Coroner Lyle said Moeller was standing in a freight elevator on the first floor level when the truck plunged through a wire mesh guard on the third floor and dropped down the shaft, striking him.

Gasoline Truck Upsets on CCC

Two Other Trucks Collide Near Scene

Three trucks were involved in a series of accidents about 2:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, when a truck loaded with high octane aviation gasoline hit an icy spot on the CCC Highway northeast of here and flipped over.

The giant tanker, holding almost 50,000 gallons of gasoline, spilled about 500 gallons of the highly volatile fluid in a ditch.

Meanwhile, vehicles moving along the highway edged near the scene of the accident as John Wyatt, state highway patrolman, attempted to keep the cars and trucks from pulling into the wreck area.

One other mishap occurred when a freight truck stopped near the scene, and another truck, unable to be stopped on the icy pavement, smashed into its rear.

Wyatt said the trailer to the big tanker truck was demolished when it got out of control on a small hill on the CCC Highway near the Browning farm and the junction of the road to Bloomingburg.

Dangerous Gas Removed

The trailer broke off from the tractor when it struck a culvert and rolled over. The tractor was damaged heavily, but the driver, John J. Matthews, 29, of Columbus, and his passenger, Willard Horton, about 30, also of Columbus, escaped injury.

They were hauling the aviation gasoline from a bulk plant in Cincinnati to Port Columbus when the accident occurred. Wyatt said he had to take emergency precautions to cut the traffic hazards on the icy hill. He said he scooped up sand and gravel off the berm and tossed it on icy spots on the hill.

Problems Growing For Ohio Turnpike

COLUMBUS, Mar. 14—(AP)—The proposed $300,000,000 toll turnpike across northern Ohio can't be completed—at the earliest—before fall or winter of 1953.

That's the best estimate of Charles Smith, the state highway department engineer who handles Ohio turnpike commission work.

And, that estimate doesn't take into account any delays through court suits by irate Ohioans who do not want to sell their property to the commission.

Meantime, the western terminus of the Pennsylvania Turnpike is scheduled to begin Nov. 1 spewing forth 7,000 vehicles a day into Ohio.

New Basic Mobilization Plan To Be Submitted by President

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP)—Labor's top council has reportedly agreed upon the makeup and powers of a new Wage Stabilization Board, opening the way -- if industry agrees -- to mending a breach that seriously threatened the defense mobilization effort.

Meanwhile, officials said President Truman will send Congress by April 1 a new basic mobilization bill expected to contain revised proposals for increasing production, bringing prices and wages under control, and a stiff rent control program. The present mobilization law expires June 30. It does not cover rents.

Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods told newsmen mobilization's top command has agreed to a rent control program broader and stronger in some respects than in World War Two.

Simultaneously with these developments yesterday, Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle said in a Philadelphia speech that "we have flagged the inflation price express and slowed its speed from 75 to 15 miles an hour." This, DiSalle said, means there is every reason to believe "we will achieve

'Sky Platform' Secret Weapon Idea

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP)—The idea of creating artificial satellites to circle around the earth out in space is getting continued attention from the military.

An air force spokesman, asked today if studies of the project first disclosed two years ago are continuing, replied only "the air force is still interested."

He added he could not discuss what, if any, progress has been made.

A reference to the project went into testimony Monday at the New York trial of three persons charged with conspiring to spy for Russia. Former Army Sergeant David Greenglass, himself a confessed spy and now a witness at the trial, mentioned the satellite project. He said he had been told

"one of the boys" had passed to one of the defendants information on a "sky platform." This was explained as a satellite. The information, said Greenglass, was obtained late in 1947.

That was two years before a Department of Defense annual report made a brief and curious mention of "earth satellite" stud-

Cold and Snow Sweep County During Night

Fayette Countians today shivered and looked out on a snowy landscape after the tailend of the blizzards that have been nearly paralyzing the plains states for more than a week swept in Tuesday afternoon and night.

But, they hoped winter was having its final fling and that spring was just around the corner like the calendar says.

The mercury started dropping and the snow falling Tuesday afternoon. For a while the big flakes melted as they hit the ground, but soon after sundown the scene became wintry.

By Wednesday morning an inch of snow covered the ground. The forecast for more snow and continued cold was backed up by gray clouds.

The mercury skidded from a high of 42 Tuesday to a low of 25 here during the night. By noon Wednesday, thermometers still registered below freezing temperatures.

Same in Rest of Ohio

It was the same over the rest of the state—some places worse. And hopes for an early spring were chilled.

Northeastern Ohio got the worst of what the Weather Bureau called "peculiar" weather conditions.

At 1:30 o'clock, Youngstown had nine inches of snow. Chardon in Geauga County's snow belt had about the same figure and the Weather Bureau reported eight inches in the Canton-Akron area. Zanesville recorded four inches. Mansfield had two inches and Cleveland Toledo got off rather easily with an inch each.

The forecast for today promises some relief from the snow, but predicts another disagreeable day all the same. It's to be cloudy in Ohio, with occasional snow and rain and continued cold, a low of 28 degrees and a high of 35.

Cold Threatens Crops As South Is Invaded

(By The Associated Press)
Cold air moved across the southland today, in the wake of snowfalls, threatening damage to young and tender crops and fruits.

Temperature dropped to below freezing in some parts of Dixie as the wintry weather from the snow-covered Midwest put a chill over the normally mild area.

Snow fell in every southern state east of the Mississippi during the last two days.

There were heavy falls in Tennessee and Kentucky with more than six inches in some sections. Florida reported the second snowfall of the winter season. Flurries pelted Crestview, 53 miles east of Pensacola last night.

Frost was predicted as far south as the lush everglades truck area by tomorrow morning, indicating the cold weather in the south was not going to end immediately.

Snow Still Falling

Meanwhile, snow continued falling over the upper and middle Mississippi Valley regions eastward to the middle Atlantic states. But forecasters said the fall was diminishing—after four days—and the end appeared in sight.

Some communities in Iowa reported snow falls for nearly 100 consecutive hours. There were 26 inches on the ground in Iowa City. The falls in Minneapolis measured 23 inches.

Temperatures moderated over most of the snowbound midwest,

$40,000 Cash Cache Admitted at Probe

NEW YORK, Mar. 14—(AP)—Threatened with perjury if he didn't answer, gambler Frank Costello today told Senate crime probes he has about $40,000 to $50,000 in his strongbox at home.

Frank Costello

Sen. Herbert R. O'Connor (D-Md.), who issued the ultimatum, told the reputed underworld leader to "be extremely careful" in answering the question.

When Costello hesitated, Sen. Charles Tobey (R-NH) interrupted to suggest that a policeman be sent to Costello's home "to open that box."

"We've played ducks and drakes long enough with this," Tobey snapped.

Earl Browder Is Acquitted

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14—(AP)—Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts today acquitted Earl Browder of a contempt of Congress charge.

Browder is the former No. 1 Communist in this country. He was accused of refusing to answer questions at a Senate foreign relations subcommittee hearing on Communism-in-government.

Judge Letts held that the committee failed to direct Browder to answer questions over his objections and explanations.

The judge's ruling ended Browder's trial and he walked out of the courtroom a free man. Thus, he had escaped going to jail for a fourth time.

Browder testified before the subcommittee last April 27 during an investigation of charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) that the State Department was infested with Communists.

Specifically, he was accused of not answering 16 questions put to him by Senator Hickenlooper (R-Ia.), a member of the committee.

Law Is Tightened On Slot Machines

COLUMBUS, March 14—(AP)—The House judiciary committee today reported out a bill making it a felony to own or display slot machines or other gambling devices. The vote was 19-0.

A subcommittee strengthened the original measure by Rep. Charles Noel, Jr., first Republican from Pike County for several years. The measure carries penalties of one to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine for violation.

The revised measure incorporates a description of slot machines and gambling devices similar to that of a new federal statute. The bill would apply to transportation of slot machines inside the state in addition to their ownership and display.

Municipal Court Near Showdown

Path Partly Cleared
Set Up one Here

The path for the establishment of a municipal court in Washington C. H. today was at least partially cleared after committee action on the municipal court bill in the state legislature came to a virtual close Tuesday, the hearing deadline.

Attorney William A. Lovell, president of the Fayette County Bar Association, went to Columbus Tuesday to present an association resolution favoring a municipal court in Washington C. H. to the committee, but it is understood from reliable sources that he did not appear before the committee.

Sen. Albert L. Daniels, who represents the district that includes Fayette County in the upper house of the legislature, is reported to have included Washington C. H. in the amendment proposed for the bill.

Lovell was in Cincinnati Wednesday and could not be reached for comment, and Sen. Daniels, his office secretary said, was away from the capital city attending a funeral.

A committee vote on the bill was expected within the next day or two.

The schedule for the proposed amendment, which would make possible a municipal court here, is not yet known. Its ultimate fate, however, depends largely on the committee's action on the bill itself.

The bill could be recommended for passage by the legislature, but what the state's lawmakers would do with it remains highly conjectural.

There was considerable opposition to a municipal court here when the question was brought up about a year ago. There has been little apparent public interest in it, except by the lawyers, since it was brought back up in the legislature.

The bill, similar in many ways to a measure vetoed in the 1949-50 assembly by Gov. Frank J. Lausche, was offered by Sen. George Marshall (R-Franklin) as a "uniform municipal court act". So many exceptions to uniform practice have been written into the bill to meet local problems in many localities in Ohio that the Senate judiciary committee decided yesterday to drop the word uniform from the title.

Thursday Last Income Tax Date

Thursday is the final day for filing income tax reports for the past year.

The office of the deputy collector, Edward J. McRoon, located on the second floor of the Masonic Temple building, has been a busy place the past few weeks.

Those filing their reports after March 15 are subject to a penalty.

Good news came from Rost when he reported that money from the state foundation program and the county treasurer will make it unnecessary for the schools here to borrow funds to enable them to meet expenses at this time of the year. The treasury was depleted, and the funds were welcomed.

The timely arrival of funds will save the schools from paying interest on borrowed money. During the past few years the schools here have been forced to borrow money when their funds were depleted. Last year, for instance, the schools here had to borrow $40,000 to tide them over during the first part of the calendar year.

Driving Rights Are Suspended for Life

Driving rights of John E. Justice, 24, whose automobile killed two young girls near Atlanta last August 19, have been suspended for life.

Justice, member of the U. S. Air Force, was before Judge William D. Radcliff in the Pickaway County Common Pleas Court on two charges.

The defendant pleaded guilty to second degree manslaughter and driving while drunk.

In addition to losing his driving rights for life, he was placed on probation for five years.

Justice was driving a car a few miles east of New Holland and killed Elaine M. Lehman, 12, Atlanta, and Yvonne Newlin, 12, of Chillicothe. The girls were riding bicycles at the time.

Terms of the probation are that Justice make allotments of $25 per month to each of the families of the two girls until each has been paid $1,000.

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, March 14—(P)—Would you like to be able to sit at home and watch, on your TV screen, the full Congress at work in the House and Senate chambers?

I guess a lot of people would, judging from the thousands who pour through Washington every year, wanting a look at Congress in action. But the day when it happens is probably a long way off.

With few exceptions, Congress won't even let news photographers take pictures now inside the House and Senate chambers. The exceptions are times when someone like President Truman addresses a joint session.

(Pictures are permitted in public committee hearings but as for the regular day-in-and-day-out sessions on the floor of House and Senate—no pictures of any kind by anybody).

Of course, there might be quite an improvement in both houses if the people back home were watching them on TV, although there's another side to this argument, as you'll see in a minute.

Senator so-and-so, who never learned how to attach a period to the end of a sentence, might learn pretty quickly he was boring the daylight out of his constituents with those long-winded talks of his.

Now, with no one listening except maybe a handful of people in the gallery and less than half a dozen senators on the floor, he will talk for hours, even though it's only to impress himself.

In the House—which has 435 members, all pretty good talkers, while the Senate has only 96—all speeches have short limits, so there's not much room for marathons.

And maybe even attendance on the House and Senate floors would pick up if the folks back home were watching TV to see if the members were on the job every day.

True, a member of Congress may be working like a beaver on congressional business somewhere else—in a committee meeting or investigation—without poking his nose inside the House or Senate chamber doors.

But he'd hardly forget, certainly around election time, to get his face in focus on TV pretty often.

There was a great lack of cheering when one member of the House—Rep. Javits, elected from New York on the Republican-liberal party ticket—suggested the House doings be televised.

He thinks it's a good idea, pointing to the "highly successful" TV coverage of the United Nations' debates in the security council and general assembly.

That's all just a kind of optimistic notion about what might come of televising Congress. The Washington Post recently raised another point in an editorial critical of televising congressional committee investigations regularly. It said:

"The regular use of television in committee investigations would certainly encourage the inquisitors to put on a show instead of calmly seeking information. Witnesses likewise would be tempted to resort to spectacular stunts and colorful charges."

That editorial grew out of the predicament of James J. Carroll, nationally known maker of betting odds, when he walked out of a St. Louis hearing conducted by the Senate's Kefauver crime investigating committee.

He strode out because cameras were set up in the hearing room to televise him testifying. He said this was an invasion of his privacy.

Brown Adds Fuel To 'Influence' Fire

Rep. Clarence J. Brown, who represents Fayette County, as a part of the seventh Ohio district, in the national Congress, has added some fuel to the "influence" scandal fires now blazing in the capital.

Rep. Brown, a Republican whose home is in Blanchester, has charged that high-paid lobbyists have been offered free tickets to the Democratic Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Washington if they contribute $100 to the Democratic national committee.

He suggested a congressional inquiry into "this bare-faced shake-down of lobbyists."

Brown said in a statement "registered lobbyists in Washington making $10,000 or more a year received a formal invitation" signed by John L. Sullivan, chairman, and an outrage to his sense of propriety.

The Post took the position that witnesses in courtroom don't have to face TV cameras and witnesses before a congressional investigating committee shouldn't have to, either, against their will.

The Kefauver committee, very much put out by Carroll's performance, wants to test whether a witness can be forced to appear on TV. So it voted to ask the full Senate to cite him for contempt.

If the Post is right about the effect of TV cameras on congressmen, maybe TV of both houses would make congressional doings worse instead of better. I'd still like to see it tried.

and Mrs. Charles F. Brannan, co-chairman of the dinner. Quotes from Letter

Brown quoted the letter of invitation as saying: "one complimentary ticket issued to every person contributing $100 to the Democrat national committee."

In suggesting a probe by a congressional committee "while we are investigating the trafficking of influence," Brown said: "it is a fact that a high percentage of the $100-plate dinners sold last year at the Jefferson-Jackson-Day dinner were bought by lobbying representatives of big corporations or other persons connected with such enterprises. Is there no limit to the lengths to which the influence peddlers in this administration will go?"

State Highway Patrolman Is Rotary Speaker

John Wyatt Explains Policies and Problems Of His Organization

The State Highway Patrol, its activities and its problems, was the theme of an interesting talk by John Wyatt, which proved very interesting to Rotarians and guests at the club's Tuesday luncheon at the Country Club.

Wyatt, a Washington C. H. man assigned to Fayette County, acquitted himself with much credit in view of the fact that he did not get the assignment to speak before the club until about an hour before the session. A speaker from the patrol's district headquarters at Wilmington, was unable to come and asked Wyatt to take his place.

Introduced by the March program chairman, Quincy Cheadle, the speaker paid a high compliment to the Fayette County Auxiliary Highway Patrol, which he said is well organized, well trained and prepared to do an efficient job whenever called upon.

Wyatt explained that it was hoped that a safety check of motor cars could be carried on in the state this year, but that lack of manpower and extra work in the defense setup, was making it impossible to carry on this work at this time.

Many features in the policy of operation of the highway patrol were explained by the speaker relative to safety precautions, speed laws and drivers' licenses.

Stop sign violations are proving one of the gravest hazards of the highways, Wyatt asserted. At one point in this county, on the CCC Highway, he related how a stiff three months of enforcement of the law put an end to numerous traffic accidents which had been happening there.

He stated that in large part Fayette County people had been found to be quite cooperative and that within the past few years less people from this county had be involved in accidents due to carelessness than formerly, and fewer than from many other counties.

The people of Fayette County have treated the highway patrol wonderfully, he said, and asked for continued cooperation for the good of all.

Wyatt related several incidents dealing with the problems of the patrolmen, explaining that motorists always will find these officers courteous and anxious to be of service to the public. Only when some violator "gets out of hand and unduly abusive" do the patrolmen show that they can exercise stern authority.

In the club preliminaries previous to the main program, Vic Smith introduced Dick Hughes as the new student guest. Harold Thompson, outgoing high school student guest, thanked the club for his two weeks of guest-membership.

Hunting Is Fun Again

Construction business is hard work, says Maurice H. Runnels, of Mabelvale, Arkansas, but he likes it. He also likes hunting with his hounds, but for a while he didn't feel like doing much of anything. He had that run-down feeling, aches and pains, and just didn't seem to have any appetite. Being an active man, he didn't like not feeling well, and decided to do something about it.

He heard about how HADACOL had helped many folks with troubles like his due to a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin and decided to give it a trial. He made a good decision, for HADACOL did help him. Soon, his aches and pains were relieved, he had a good appetite, really enjoyed his food, and he rested well.

Mr. Runnels says: "I am in the construction business, which everyone knows is mighty heavy work. I was working so hard, and just didn't seem to have any appetite at all. I started having aches and pains at about the same time. Then, about that time I decided to give HADACOL a trial. Right away, my aching was greatly relieved and my appetite picked up. I started eating regular meals, sleeping well and my general condition was greatly improved. I have since continued taking HADACOL regularly, and feel that it is a wonderful product. I freely recommend HADACOL as a good product."

Motor Vehicles, Public Health and Welfare

Most of us take the automobile for granted in modern times. It is playing a vital part in our lives.

This vehicle has become such a normal part of the existence of most families that few can remember much about the "old days" of the horse, buggy and wagons.

One item was called to our attention a few days ago which adds another phase to this general picture of modern living. That point is that much of the progress made in recent years in the field of public health and safety must be credited to the automobile and especially equipped motor-powered vehicles.

No observer needs to go beyond the confines of Fayette County to recognize this.

It has been said with considerable justification that the automobile is as essential to doctors and nurses in their lifesaving work as their skill. Of course that is a matter of opinion but it's a fact that nearly 220,000 physicians and thousands of visiting nurses in this country depend on their automobiles for both emergency and routine calls.

In addition, literally thousands of ambulances are used daily to bring patients to the nation's more than 6,000 hospitals. Traveling automotive X-ray laboratories, bloodbanks, special health and dental units are all playing increasingly important roles in safeguarding and improving the nation's health.

It is significant that the overall death rate has declined from 17.2 to less than 10 per thousand in the period since the automobile came into use. Certainly, motor vehicles must be given some of the credit.

Similarly, the motor vehicle is an important factor in guarding public health. The mobility of fire trucks and radio-equipped police cars has made possible the protection of a population and property almost twice as large as it was in 1900 with about the same number of personnel. When disaster strikes, the Red Cross and relief workers often must depend entirely on motor vehicles to speed aid to stricken areas.

These are only a few of the many ways in which motor vehicles serve the nation. But they supply added evidence that it is vital to keep the nation's cars and trucks rolling throughout the present emergency through the production of adequate supplies of replacement parts and proper maintenance of all vehicles in use.

MacArthur Is Not Happy

General Douglas MacArthur, obviously not satisfied with standing still and killing Chinese, wants more soldiers and more freedom to conduct his military strategy. Any general would. No military leader is content to stay put. He wants to win and get it over with.

But the general has the amorphous United Nations, with its divided councils, for a boss. The American way is to wade in and get a decision one way or the other. But the British and the French will not have it that way. Unconcerned about American casualties, they insist on kidding the Chinese along, fearing the latter may erupt against British and French colonies elsewhere in Asia if they become greatly agitated. Just standing still and killing them is supposed to be good public relations.

MacArthur is unhappy because he cannot use his air arm to blast the bases where the Reds spawn. He cannot engage in a war of maneuver by going beyond the 38th parallel. The greater part of his offensive strength is denied him.

In this situation it is understandable that the general couples more freedom of action with his request for more troops. Without freedom of action, more soldiers will be virtually useless—except to kill Chinese and in turn be killed to no particular purpose.

With home gardeners polishing up their hoe blades, it is to be feared that billions of bugs also are whetting their chisels.

Diet and Health Painful Condition That Affects Neck

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Acute torticollis, or wry neck, as anybody knows who has ever experienced it, is an excruciatingly painful condition. Usually it comes on suddenly, with the muscles of the neck becoming exceedingly tight and tender. Recurrent waves of sharp pain pulse through drawn to one side.

It has been thought that wry neck is caused by inflammation of the neck muscles due, perhaps to exposure to a draft or chilling. An injury might also be a factor. However, recently a number of cases have been described in which the wry neck was found to be due to allergy or oversensitivity. In these patients, it was found that the attacks of wry neck could be brought about by having the persons eat foods to which they were known to be sensitive, especially if such foods had not been present in the diet for several days previously. It would seem that when the foods are avoided for a time and then eaten, the allergic reaction is more severe.

In some cases, when the patient was given the foods to which he was sensitive, the typical attack of wry neck did not occur, but there was a generalized tenseness, drawing or aching sensation in the muscles at the back of the neck.

In typical attacks brought on by the eating of foods to which the patient was sensitive, there was often a general reaction which caused the person to feel so fatigued and sleepy that he retired immediately after his evening meal.

In these cases, movement, such as turning in bed during sleep, or getting up from bed in the morning, was associated with a sudden onset of severe pain in the neck, together with a very tender area in one of the neck muscles. Because of the extreme pain, the head was turned to one side so as to shorten the affected muscle. The head was held in this position for one or two days, following which the attack gradually disappeared.

It would seem important, therefore, for the physician to make a careful study of the patient who suffers from attacks of wry neck to determine whether an allergy is producing the condition.

Blood Samples Used by Science To Detect Crime Among Germs

By FRANCES LEWINE

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 14—(AP)—Rutgers scientists are using blood samples like fingerprints to detect criminals of the bacteria world.

Not long ago, the university started collecting samples of the blood types of every known animal.

They were catalogued at the Rutgers Serological Museum—the only museum of its type in the world.

Lots of people wondered what good this curious collection could be.

So the scientists today revealed this interesting example of their Laboratory Detective Bureau.

Microbe hunters in the Belgian Congo were puzzled over the spread of malaria in the heart of Africa.

Congo public health officials, trying to trace the animal carrying the disease, appealed to the Rutgers Serological Museum.

Across thousands of miles they sent blood dots from the stomachs of malaria-carrying mosquitoes. The Congo scientists wanted to know where those mosquitoes had fed. What animal's blood, laden with malaria germs, had the mosquitoes sopped up?

The Congo specialists thought it was the common African rodent.

At Rutgers, Dr. Alan A. Boyden,

Slight Thing Can Set Off Blast

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP)

—Sometimes it takes only the slightest thing to set off an explosion or start a chain reaction. You know, the match to the powder keg, the push of the button or whatever that puts the uranium pile in action.

In my case, it was seat covers. Automobile seat covers.

This sad story begins a year ago, with the old 1941 car. It was in need of a number of things, new piston rings, new tires, a new windshield.

"At least," said my wife, "we should put on seat covers."

So off we went to town. By one of those marvelous coincidences that shows up only around cunning women, we parked next to a second hand car lot.

"Oh, look," said my wife, feigning surprise, "a station wagon. Just what we need for the four kids."

Without bothering to recount the painful details, we'll just say I went to town to buy seat covers and drove home in a station wagon.

It made a hit with the kids, too, with one minor exception.

Judith, who is five, was given a ride by herself, in the back seat.

"How do you like it?" I asked.

"I'm lonely," she said.

Still the station wagon -- which is merely a fancy name for an overdesigned truck -- was all right. I especially liked the leather seats, easy to clean of footmarks, melted crayons and bubblegum.

Then I began to worry. The station wagon had wood sides. Wouldn't it rot in this damp climate? Didn't we need a garage?

"We certainly do," said my wife. "Let's get a house with a nice garage."

So we started to hunt. Finding a four bedroom house in Washington, at a price we could afford, proved about as easy as finding a capitalist in the Kremlin.

The houses we've seen!

We looked at one house which had a perfectly charming spring in the basement.

We saw another whose former owner must have had insomnia. I am guessing this from what appeared to be hoof marks on the floor. I figured he was the only insomnia sufferer in history who ever counted real live sheep.

We have seen houses with enough room but no yard, enough yard but no room, and with no room and no yard.

I don't know how it happened, but somewhere along the line we

By Arthur Edson
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

decided we really didn't need a garage, which was the point of the search in the first place.

We still haven't found what we want, but we've learned a few things.

If the ad says, "Will take twin beds," we now know that this is true, if you stand the beds on end.

"Out where it's peaceful and quiet" means that you'll have to hire an Indian guide to find your way back to Washington.

"Excellent financing" means exactly that; excellent financing for the finance company.

And if the ad says, "prewar built," we now know enough to ask, "which war?"

Well, we were coming from a particularly fruitless house hunting trip the other day. The weather matched our moods, gloomy and cold.

Finally Mrs. E. broke the silence by saying:

"You know, these leather seats get awfully cold. I wonder if we don't need seat covers."

Since then I haven't been the same. Jumpy, irritable, with a tendency to whimper.

As I said in the beginning, sometimes it takes only the slightest thing.

Holiday for Liars and Smearers

I have recently listened to some unbelievably foul radio programs, in which the most outrageous lies have been told about fine Americans. In speaking of this to others, I learned that I had heard nothing, as the expression goes. I was told that much is spoken on the radio by so-called disc jockeys after midnight, which amounts to a holiday for liars and smearers. Whether it is really so or not, I do not know as I have not listened.

The subject interested me and I began making inquiries. One of the first questions that arose in my mind is, what are the qualifications of these so-called commentators? What is their background? Where have they studied? What has been their experience? Have they traveled widely and noted the traditions of varieties of peoples?

I took a sample of names and checked in such standard works as "Who's Who in America" and similar biographical indices. It came to me as a shock that the radio permits men to give the appearance of profound and detailed knowledge of many subjects who cannot be qualified to discuss them. They may have excellent voices; they may even have a gift for dramatic expression. But they lack many of them, the experience, the knowledge, the opportunity for observation, the personal contacts with events, to do the work which they pretend to do.

Listeners would do well to check on such matters. The listeners have the right to know who it is who speaks to them with such an appearance of knowledge, just as they have a right to ask newspapers for biographies of their featured writers.

In some instances, when the smear was used and when the speaker seemed to be a specialist at lies, I asked for copies of the statements, for transcripts or recordings. I was surprised to discover that this is not always available. In fact, in many instances, no record is kept of what is said. This is particularly true of the post-midnight comments, the illusion being that stations need keep no record after midnight.

As a matter of fact, no station need ever make a record of any program which it broadcasts. I can find no FCC rule which requires that such a record be made. A station can perpetrate any outrage against a person and unless he or some friend catches the statements or has them recorded, he may never be able to prove that he had been slandered, maligned or abused. He may be the victim of the most outrageous untruths, but he may be unable to establish that the indecency was perpetrated, except by the difficult and costly process of finding witnesses who heard what was said and retained the specific language.

Of course, it is different with newspapers, which are a permanent printed record where the facts stand as they were published. It is impossible to deny the existence of the printed word once it is uttered. There it is, for better or for worse. We, who live by writing, unfortunately cannot say that it was a slip of the tongue; the error stands out like a horrible gargoyle and one can simply wait for the torrent of letters to come down on his head.

It would seem to me that a permanent record should be kept of every comment made on the air and such a record should, by law, be available to any person concerning whom any comment has been made. In fact, it should be made illegal to withhold the record of remarks from a person who regards himself as aggrieved, just as a newspaper must make its files available under similar circumstances.

Radio is not, and cannot be, a licensed instrument of defamation. It must be responsible for its conduct and any station or sponsor or commentator who ducks responsibility should be suspect among listeners.

I have never listened to one of those post-midnight efforts, always promising myself to take a few nights off for that purpose, but never getting around to it. I am told that in many parts of the country this device is employed by saloons and restaurants to attract business. I presume that the bartender is the managing editor of the copy and the pianoplayer is the authority on world affairs

Troubles Have Beset Balkans For Thousands of Years and Conditions No Different Now

By SHERRY BOWEN
(By The Associated Press)
Trouble in the Balkans!

That cry has been heard for thousands of years. Both geography and peoples have had a part in making the area a source of trouble. Both Europe and a large part of Asia have been involved.

In the Balkans are passes through which invaders easily can strike north or south. But there are also rugged mountains to which the people can flee and from which they can war on anyone who tries to dominate the area.

The result has been a confusion of peoples. There are now in the Balkans, among others, Albanians, Greeks, Serbs, Bulgars, Turks, Croats, Vlachs, Romanians and Magyars.

In Romania until recently were important colonies of Germans. Some of these, it is believed, were descendants of crusaders who stopped off there to guard Europe against barbarian invasion. Through the centuries, they maintained their language, customs and links with Germany.

The Balkans are also a center of clashing religions. There is an important Moslem element besides two major and several minor varieties of Christian. The Serbs and Croats, for example are related peoples. But the Croats are Roman Catholics and the Serbs Orthodox Catholics. That difference still troubles the rulers of Yugoslavia.

Started Long Ago

But trouble in the Balkans really started long before the dawn of history and continues to the present day. This is the area where strong Mediterranean peoples moving up into Europe and Asia meet strong peoples moving down toward the inland sea. They clash. They have always clashed.

One of the first such clashes that archeologists see back through the mists of time was that between the Hellenes moving down and the Minoans moving up. The Minoans lost. Some of them fled and are supposed to have been the Philistines of Biblical fame.

The Hellenes set up the great civilization of ancient Greece. They turned back the Persians who were trying to move up. But the Greeks never were able to get along with each other. After bitter wars among themselves they were conquered by Macedonia, another Balkan power. But the empire of Alexander the Great fell to pieces and the Balkans were taken over by the Romans, another Mediterranean power moving up.

And Rome had trouble with northern peoples moving down. There was a strong kingdom in Dacia (modern Romania). The Dacians were always raiding into the empire. For a time, mighty Rome actually paid tribute to Dacia to prevent the raids. Then between 101 and 103 A. D. the emperor Trajan moved in and made Dacia a Roman province.

But in 256 the Goths drove the Romans out of Dacia and in 275 the last Roman troops left and arrangements were made for Roman colonists to move to other areas. Modern students dispute whether or not they all really left. Some insist that the barbarian invaders merely submerged the Romans and Dacians for a time and that modern Romanians are mostly descendants of the Romans and Dacians.

That is typical of disputes about the origins of most peoples in the Balkans. For the Goths were only one of many peoples to sweep down out of Asia into the Balkans. There were Huns, Gepidae, Avars, Slavs, Vandals, Bulgars, Magyars, Mongols and others, century after century of them. There were conquests, reconquests, revolts, raids, burned towns, refugees, oppression and heroism.

Meanwhile the western Roman empire fell to pieces and the eastern or Byzantine empire tried to control troubles in the Balkans. There were hundreds of years of that trouble. Sometimes it exploded into Europe. For instance in 797 Charlemagne crushed the Avars in a great battle which changed the Balkan balance of power.

And in 1204 the powers represented by the Fourth Crusade intervened. They captured Constantinople and set up a European kingdom there for a while. They also set up a number of other kingdoms, duchies and other states in the Balkans. Among others was the Duchy of Athens where medieval knights held tournaments until the Turks moved in.

Turks Had Their Fling

The Turks started to move up through the Balkans in the 14th Century. The next century they really got moving. Constantinople fell in 1453. The Duchy of Athens in 1456. High point of the Turkish drive came with the siege of Vienna in 1683.

It was during these centuries of the Turkish drive that the powers of Europe began to eye the "cockpit of the Balkans." It was the period of the formation of the European nations as they are known today. They feared the Turk. But that did not prevent some of them sometimes working with him.

Even after the 1638 peak the Turks were driven back slowly. Greece did not gain independence until 1829. Serbia emerged in 1830.

But the Balkans continued to be the cockpit and the powers continued to watch uneasily. Sometimes they even did things about it. On occasion their edicts forced Balkan nations to give up areas they had won by hard fighting.

In modern times, the Balkan wars of 1912 and 1913 was the most spectacular Balkan trouble. In the first of these wars, Bulgaria, Serbia, Greece and Montenegro combined to drive the Turks out of all, but a tiny section of Europe around Constantinople. In the second, the Bulgarians fought with their former allies and the Romanians and Turks intervened.

But in 1914, the impact of the Balkan wars was dwarfed by the dispute with the Austro-Hungarian empire that triggered World War I after an assassination at Sarajevo.

Populations Exchanged

After the war some populations were exchanged between the Turks and the Balkan nations. Yugoslavia was set up as a nation.

The pattern of trouble continu-

Union Services For Good Friday

Business Places Are To Cooperate

Residents of Washington C. H. and area will have an opportunity on Good Friday, March 23, to unite in prayer at special union services to be held at the First Presbyterian Church.

Plans for the Union Good Friday service were made Tuesday at the regular meeting of the Fayette County Ministerial Association.

The Good Friday services will be held from 12 noon to 2:45 P. M. in seven different 20-minute periods.

Businesses here plan to cooperate with the ministerial association by permitting their employees time off from 12 noon to 2 P. M. so that the employees can attend the services.

Seven ministers from various churches in the city will take part in the Union Good Friday services. The seven last words of Christ will be the theme.

In order to allow churchgoers an opportunity to observe Holy Week, special 20-minute daily services have been planned for each day from Monday through Thursday from 12:05 P. M. until 12:25 P. M. The public is invited.

Ministers who will have charge of the services on one of each of the four days during Holy Week will be Rev. Francis T. McCarty, pastor of the First Baptist Church; Rev. Allan W. Caley, pastor of the Grace Methodist Church; Rev. C. B. Tigner, pastor of the First Christian Church, and Rev. Harold J. Braden, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Tentative plans have been made to have the high school chorus, under the direction of William Bowman, sing at the Union Good Friday services.

ed through World War II and after. The Nazis drove down through the Balkans, as northeners had for thousands of years. Again the people took to the hills. Tito and Mihailovich fought the Germans, but it was charged they preferred to fight each other. That too, followed the pattern; Balkan peoples always have fought each other.

After World War II most of the area was taken over—in effect—by the Russians, another northern people moving down. Then American aid to Greece stopped a nasty little war and checked the movement. Yugoslavia broke away from Russian influence, creating a new tension.

The Balkans remain one of the most important tension areas. A new clash may be decisive in the conflict between Communism and the west.

Sheriff Tells How To Recognize Courteous Driver

Sheriff Orland Hays said Wednesday that there are 10 ways to recognize a courteous driver, and urges cultivation of courtesy as an important phase of safe driving.

He lists the various ways as follows:

He always gives correct hand signals for changes of lane, turns or stops.

He obeys speed limits always.

He stops completely at all stop signs.

He drives in and turns from the proper lane.

He observes passing regulations and "no passing" zones—yellow lines.

He yields right of way to pedestrians and also observes mid block cross-walks.

He stops when approaching standing school buses until it is safe and proper to proceed.

He exercises special caution at highway-railroad crossings—and stops when signalled that a train is coming.

He refuses to drive after drinking.

He anticipates what others, drivers or pedestrians, may do, and drives so that they may do it without becoming involved with his car.

"Most of our bad weather is over. Drivers will be increasing their speed, more cars will be out, more people will walk on or near our highways. We will catch up with national traffic losses unless drivers mind their manners, and drive courteously, considerately and cautiously," the sheriff concluded.

Dayton Cagers Win NIT Opener

Surprise Is Sprung By Seton Hall, too

NEW YORK, March 14—(AP)—Two unseeded but undaunted dark horses—Dayton and Seton Hall—ranked today as definite threats to gallop into the final round of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament.

In a pair of smashing quarter-final upsets, Dayton trimmed fourth-seeded Arizona, 74-68, last night and Seton Hall blasted second-seeded North Carolina State, 71-59, before 9,630 surprised fans at Madison Square Garden.

Tomorrow night Dayton and Seton Hall will go against the other seeded teams—St. John's, No. 1, and Brigham Young, No. 3. Dayton plays St. John's (9:30 P. M., EST) and Seton Hall meets Brigham Young (7:45 P. M.).

A six-foot-seven bundle of scoring and rebounding dynamite—Don Meineke—was the big difference for the Dayton Flyers.

Meineke was a near-perfect player last night. He poured in 37 points and had magnetic hands under both backboards. The wiry junior flipped in 11 field goals and 15 fouls, the latter an NIT record.

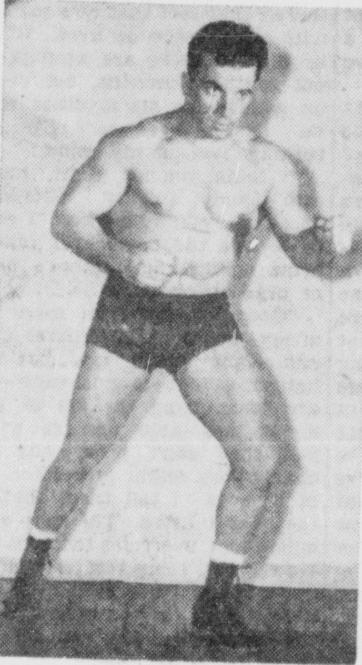

Dayton sped to a 39-29 halftime lead even though Meineke went 7½ minutes before connecting with a field goal. Twice during the second half Arizona cut the margin to five points, but Dayton refused to crack.

Roger Johnson, with 19 points sparked Arizona's attack. But he, Jerry Dillon and Leo Johnson fouled out, crushing any hopes Arizona had of coming back.

In the second game, Seton Hall completely smothered the nation's major top-scoring team.

Rassle Card All Set for Armory Here

"Chokin' 'im Ref!"—"Watch th' ropes!" and many like phrases will ring out Wednesday evening at the Washington C. H. Armory when the third wrestling card gets underway starting at 8:30 P. M.

Chris Belkas

Chris Belkas, who appeared here a couple of weeks ago on a card, will return to the local ring to tangle with Jack Vansky in a two out of three fall match.

Belkas will be the lighter of the two men and will rely upon speed to try for the pin upon Vansky. He weighs 193 pounds which gives Vansky about a 37 pound advantage.

Vansky, known to his friends as "The Neck," has been also known to use some of the less orthodox techniques in attempting to gain a victory. This is due, naturally, to his size, strength and natural robust nature.

Bad man "Speedy" LaRance will take on Roland Meeker in the semi-final go, which will be one fall with a 30 minute limit.

Not much hair pulling will be evidenced by Meeker since LaRance's dome is as clean as a cue ball on top.

Irish Mike McGee will bring along the luck of the Emerald Isle when he goes against Jim Lewis in the curtain raiser. Lewis will try to keep the match on a high plane as McGee is known to be a little rough at times.

Company M of the Ohio National Guard will again sponsor the matches.

Champion Cagers Keep in Practice

MANHATTAN, Kas., March 14

—(AP)—Illinois and Kansas State meet here tonight in a basketball game intended as a tuneup for the NCAA playoffs.

The unprecedented meeting of Illinois, champion of the Big Ten and Kansas State, Big Seven title, is being played to keep them in trim for next week's NCAA playoffs.

Special permission was granted by the two conferences for the first post season meeting between their champions. Illinois has a 19-3 record and K-State holds a 21-3 season mark.

Illinois' first round opponent in the eastern NCAA playoff at New York City March 20 will be Columbia. Kansas State opens in the western at Kansas City March 21 with Arizona.

All-SCO Squad To Be Selected

Basketball Champs Are To Be Crowned

Washington C. H. High School officials, members of the coaching staff and the sports editor of the Record-Herald looked forward Wednesday (today) to a big dinner and then some serious discussion of athletic problems at Circleville at the evening's annual winter South Central Ohio League meeting.

The triple-feature of the meeting, however, will be (1) crowning of Greenfield's Tigers as the 1950-51 varsity champions of the loop, (2) awarding the reserve championship to the Washington C. H. quintet and (3) selection of an All-SCO squad of two teams, plus a list of honorable mentions.

The Tigers won the title, seven league victories and one defeat. Their only setback was at the hands of Circleville's Tigers early in the season.

The Lion basketballers of WHS finished in the runner-up spot with five wins and three losses. Two of the losses were to the champs -- by one and two points. The other was to Hillsboro's Indians.

THE WHS RESERVES won their title with a record of seven victories and one defeat--a setback at the hands of Hillsboro's Reserves.

The crowning of the Tigers will be a perfunctory ceremony, but the selection of the all-star team may provide some surprises and create some arguments.

The selections are to be made by the coaches. But, most of them will be guided to a considerable extent by what the boys on their teams have had to say about their opponents.

Up for discussion also will be admissions -- the league follows a uniform system -- and some routine problems.

While the coaches and school authorities are holding their sessions, the sports editors of the papers in the five league cities will have their own get-together. Whether they will make any proposals for consideration, remains conjectural. There has been no advance hint of any yet.

Schools in the league are in Washington C. H., Greenfield, Wilmore, Hillsboro and Circleville.

Going to the meeting from Washington C. H. will be WHS Principal Arthur Wohlers, Superintendent Stephen Brown and the coaching staff of Fred Pierson, (junior basketball) Harry Townsend (basketball) and Ron Guinn (Reserve basketball) and Hap Veerkamp, the Record-Herald sports editor.

Golden Glove Boys New York-bound

CHICAGO, March 14—(AP)—Chicago's Golden Glove squad of 26 fighters leaves today for New York to open drills for the 24th annual intercity matches in Madison Square Garden Monday night.

The Chicago representatives come from Los Angeles, Kansas City, Galveston, Tex., Moline, Ill., Little Rock, Ark., Memphis, Okla., Great Lakes, Ill., and Cleveland. Sixteen out of the group of 26 will compete in the intercity bouts.

Chicago has won 12 intercity titles to five for New York. In the last three years, the cities have tied 8-8.

Seminole Tourney Led by Mangrum

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 14—(AP)—A tough golf course, tricky winds and occasional showers were all in a day's work for Lloyd Mangrum as he grabbed his three-stroke lead yesterday in the Seminole Golf Tournament.

"It all depends on whether you hit the ball well," said the slender, confident Chicagoan after his second-round 67 which gave him a total of 136. "If you hit the ball well, the wind helps you."

Mangrum's performance put him two strokes up on Ben Hogan, the bantam belter who has returned to the tournament trail after a six-week layoff, and Pete Cooper of Ponte Verda, Fla. Appearing for the first time since the Phoenix Open, Hogan shot 68 with the 70 he registered during the wind and rain of the tournament's opening day.
